Letter of Recommendation

I am writing to express our appreciation for Atinea, who collaborated with us over the last three years on a software development project focused on analyzing large amounts of data. The project involved developing the data structure and utilizing tools like C#.Net Core, Azure Cloud, and the Azure DevOps API.

From the start, Atinea demonstrated strong professionalism, enthusiasm, and adaptability. Their motivated team quickly learned and implemented new ideas, consistently delivering the project with impressive speed and accuracy, often exceeding our expectations.

Atinea's proactive approach in understanding our needs stood out. They actively engaged with stakeholders to ensure the solution not only met our specifications but also included features that enhanced usability.

Their dedication, positive attitude, and commitment to delivering the best possible results were evident throughout. We highly recommend Atinea for future projects, as their expertise, work ethic, and collaborative spirit make them an excellent partner for reliable and innovative software development services.

Sincerely,

Matthias Jörgl
